AM Valuation Services, PLLC, owned by Ajay Madhvani of Tucson, Arizona, is recognized for its professional expertise and longstanding contributions to commercial real estate valuation and property analysis throughout the Navajo Nation. Through specialized appraisal services, the company has provided critical reports, market analysis, and valuation data that support informed decision-making related to business site leases, land and building purchases, and property development initiatives. As a licensed commercial real estate appraisal firm, AM Valuation Services has worked extensively with the Navajo Nation on both trust and fee land properties. The company's services have supported negotiations, project planning, and property assessments across a wide range of communities, including Chinle, Tuba City, Ojo Encino, Antelope Point, Montezuma Creek, and other remote areas throughout the reservation. In addition to appraisal services, the company provides analysis and reporting for conventional lending, Small Business Administration-related projects, eminent domain evaluations, and appraisal reviews. Their work has contributed valuable data and professional insight that help support economic development, infrastructure planning, and responsible land and property management. Ajay Madhvani and AM Valuation Services PLLC exemplify professionalism, technical expertise, and commitment to supporting economic growth and development opportunities across the Navajo Nation.
